COURSE DESCRIPTION

This session is for professionals who have already completed one of the prerequisite training options and are ready to design a Practical Functional Assessment and Skill Based Treatment (PFA / SBT) plan for a student in their care. (See Prerequisites / Requirements)

At the start of the session, Dr. Hanley will review an example student with design tips. The remainder of the conference will be conducted in small groups with an FTF Behavioral Consulting Senior or Lead Consultant. This is an additional capacity-building opportunity with one of the skilled consultants who will model backward designing the analysis informed by the terminal goals of treatment for a client in your care.

Attendees will learn to:

- Extract unique synthesized reinforcement contingencies from interviews
- Design safe and effective functional analyses from the interviews
- Design the initial steps of a skill-based treatment (i.e., up to CAB2) based on the analysis and the terminal goals of treatment for a client
- Revise analysis and treatment steps based on client performance

The focus of the session will be on the foundations of identifying individualized reinforcement and evocative contexts for a learner. Participants will need to complete an open-ended interview for one of their students prior to the session. During the session, they will design analysis and the initial steps of SBT. There will be group sharing portions throughout the session.
